Friedrich-Alexander-Universität

Germany

Peter Gelius is a research associate at the Department of Sport Science and Sport at Friedrich-Alexander-Universität Erlangen-Nürnberg, Germany, and co-director of its WHO Collaborating Centre for Physical Activity and Public Health. He has a Ph.D. in political science and a research doctorate in sport science. His main expertise is in PA policy development and monitoring, participatory approaches in PA, and structure and agency in health promotion. He has been involved in various projects to monitor and evaluate PA policy at the local, national, and international level, and has been collaborating with the EU and WHO around policy monitoring since 2014.

My Topics for the 21st International Teaching Week:

- 1) Improving knowledge co-creation and participation in physical activity promotion
- 2) Planetary health: An argument for or against sport and physical activity?
